

LOCAL SOCIAL EVENTS

Engagement Announced

Simon and daughter, Miss Nina Maxine Simon, have been betrothed. The engagement was announced at the Fairmont Country club at which time the engagement of the former's daughter, Miss Nina Maxine Simon, and Charles James Shuttlesworth, the latter of Charleston, was announced. The marriage will take place on the evening of March 22 and will be a brilliant society event. Sharing in the honors of the afternoon were Miss Susan Arnette and Miss Frances West Kinsey, both to be brides of the month. The guests numbered thirty and included the members of the Wednesday Bridge club, of which the Misses Simon are members. The guests were seated at one long table which was set in the dining room and which was artistically arranged for the occasion. Centering the table was a large French doll dressed as a bride with wedding veil and wearing a miniature corsage of brides roses about which was arranged a mound of opella roses and freisias while French baskets of these flowers were placed at the table ends. Place cards embossed with brides heads marked the places and unique favors consisting of French bride manikins bearing tiny cards on which the initials C. J. S. and N. M. S. and the date, March 22, 1932, were hand marked announced the engagement.

Miss Simon is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Simon prominent residents of the city and is herself a favorite in society circles. She is a young woman of unusual charm and culture. She attended the Sample school in New York City, having specialized in music, piano and piano.

Mr. Shuttlesworth is a son of the late Reger Shuttlesworth of Charleston and is a splendid young business man of that city. He attended the West Virginia University and served in the world war, having seen foreign service. At present he is a resident of Charleston, being associated in business with the Clarksburg Light and Heat company. His father was George With Shuttlesworth and he is descended from well known Harrison county families.

Out of town guests present at the luncheon were Miss Helen Grim of Philadelphia, cousin of the Misses Simon and Mrs. Lindsay Frame of Hancock, Md., a guest in the city.

TUSTIN REVIEWS

DISTRICT WORK

Paw Paw Superintendent Tell of Work Done in That Section

In a letter to his teachers, C. C. Tustin, district superintendent of Paw Paw district says:

"The third month of school which ended in December was a fairly successful one in school activities. Much good work has been done, but still there is room for improvement. The Classification Tests would seem to indicate that while the mass of boys and girls are working there are several who demand special attention. The test in English would indicate that only a few are familiar with the dictionary. In spite of several low scores the averages for the district are very good. Take special interest in your dull and slow pupils. These are your congressmen of tomorrow. The highest point-getters in the tests by grades are as follows:

In this test there were a possible 180 points and below is given the six highest scores.

"Hazel Straight, Riverside high, grade 12, 147 points; Mary Weaver, Fairview high, grade 11, 151 points; Horace Michael, Fairview high, grade 10, 151 points; Keener Cecil, Riverside high, grade 9, 129 points; Mary Sturm, Fairview grammar, grade 8, 143 points. William Phillips, Sugar Grove, rural, grade 7, 140 points. The attendance for the third month was very good. See that each succeeding month becomes better still. The monthly report follows:

DEPRESSION HITS PITTSBURGH HARD

Coal Trade Slump Brings Trouble in Soft Coal Fields

(By Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 11.—Depression in the coal trade has brought about privation and destitution among miners in many places in the Pittsburgh bituminous district, according to officials of district number five, United Mine Workers of America. In a statement today Robert R. Gibbons, president of the district union, said that of approximately 45,000 miners in the region, at a rough estimate 28,000 had work either full time or part time. Many of this number of miners who are employed on a tonnage basis, Mr. Gibbons stated, have worked for the past year only a day or two a week and often only for a half day a week. Their earnings in these cases would not enable them to meet the bare necessities of life.

Illustrative of the condition which the miners' president said had brought about one of the worst periods ever known in the Pittsburgh coal trade, Mr. Gibbons pointed out that the mines in the region on December 9, 1931, were not operating better than 20 per cent normal, resulting in the exodus of more than 14,000 of the district membership monthly.

The mines that are operating steadily on a day or two a week are over-crowded, according to William Hargest, secretary-treasurer of district number five.

"There are only too many men for a one job man," he stated, "this season and the circumstances of the depression have brought mining in the region to practically a standstill.
